

Reaction

Here – attached is the Judge’s statement to the press, July 23, 2020: “This bar fight, fueled by a considerable amount of alcohol, should not be confused by anything, as it is considered a hate crime. Witnesses have testified to the drunkenness of the bully, and the victim, now deceased, can only testify by the condition of his body. As the state no longer provides juris-prudence on these poverty induced crimes they are now turned over to programmed case handling.”

The following is a review of this procedure to administer justice – an assessment – as laid out with analysis of the pattern recognition software, medical diagnosis, forensic discoveries, included with delivery protocols for administering drugs inducing consciousness awareness provided by Medi-Mimic™, and with testimony by Mrs. Amelia Hasp – technician. This report is copied and submitted to the State Recorder’s Office, also the World Court RE: Crimes against Humanity.

Transcript of Ms Hasp’s testimony: “The deceased was examined during an automated autopsy and accessed by the most current medical diagnostic software at our disposal. Each particular injury was indicated with measurements including the direction and amount of force to induce each individual broken bone, wound, every trauma during this attack, and the estimated time it took. The victim's histamine levels indicated the effect of the shock to his system and mental stresses of terror show up in his adrenal indicators. At one point the victim lost consciousness as the bully's beating continued. (Your Honor, Medi-Mimic™ is able to record those additional injuries and supplies us with the data of conditions of other victims when conscious and access the degree of pain those injuries would have induced.) Thirty hours, in a coma, after this beating the victim died.

“This particular software develops a unique to victim sequence of events, the degree of force and the means to induce a copy of the events in real time, from the victim onto the attacker. Medi-Mimic™ is able to provide the correct dosage of conscious inducing drugs so that the perpetrator will experience each injury he induced on his victim. The lag time between blows each beating he perpetrated on the victim would reach his conscious mind and be experienced with like degree within his own body. The drugs keep him alert. We assume he will accept his responsibility of the attack on the other man. However we are never quite positive of this.

“In essence, Medi-Mimic™ repeats the victims injuries on the guilty party taking approximately the same period of time as the crime took, in this particular case until death. It is quite straight forward. The case to case portable units have downloadable software interfacing with diagnosis and immediate specific procedures from the central office. This hardware is light of weight, exquisitely proficient in application, and the costs are effective.

“When I read to the accused, how justice would be served by the use of Medi-Mimic™, this man's battered mouth during his police arrest made it impossible to express his last words clearly to me. His speech garbled, his immediate response is here recorded with my interpretation: I said as usual: ‘Let justice be administered,’ before activating the Medi-Mimic™ unit.

“He interrupted me, yelling either, ‘Wait!’ Or, ‘Hate!’ It was impossible for me to differentiate because of his slur – also, it is impossible to corroborate what was said without the additional expense adding audio/visual recording into the unit while administering any protocol.

“I did say to him as I activated his unit, ‘No! All of us have run out of time.’”

REACTION
© James Maxwell 2015
by James Maxwell

707-964-5558
jamax@mcn.org
669 North Harold Street
Fort Bragg, CA 95437